Art Unit: 1732

1. It appears that "is" on line 2 of claim 25 should be "in" and that "varying" on line 1 of claim 28 should be "varied".

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ueda et al. (4,028,455). Ueda et al. disclose or suggest the basic claimed method of manufacturing a mold including (1) forming a cavity in a mold media, the cavity corresponding to the shape of the mold, (2) positioning a vacuum chamber 11 in a portion of the cavity, (3) supplying a molten material to the cavity to form the mold about or near the vacuum chamber, the molten material conforming to the cavity and defining the mold face (the coating film 5 of Ueda et al. effectively becomes molten by being dissolved in a solvent and then flowing into interstices of sand 7, at least partially forming layer 15, as described at column 3, lines 41-63), and (4) forming at least one hole in the mold extending from the mold face to the vacuum chamber to provide communication between the vacuum chamber and the mold face (it is submitted that the hole or holes are inherent based on the disclosure of the removal of solvent through pipe 13 at column 3, lines 49-55). Ueda et al. do not describe the aspect of using the mold for thermoforming, but it is well known to do so and such would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to provide a more complex shape to sheet-like material.

Art Unit: 1732

Holes are present in the mold of Ueda et al., as in claim 27.

4. Claims 26, 28 and 29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Claims 30-32 are allowed.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Allan Kuhns whose telephone number is (571) 272-1202. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Thursday from 7:00 to 5:30.
